

Hertfordshire Learning Disabilities Workforce Development Group Pilot Training Programme

This pilot programme of training activities has been created in direct response to identified training needs and information gathered from members of the Hertfordshire Learning Disabilities Workforce Development Group. The group membership has representation from the private, voluntary & statutory sector across Hertfordshire.

The pilot training programme covers three areas of Hertfordshire. These areas are Watford, Hatfield & Ware. This will go some way towards ensuring that a training event takes place somewhere near to your place of work or residence. The courses offered on the pilot training programme are funded via the National Training Strategy Grant and are therefore free of charge to all members of the Private, Voluntary & Statutory sectors within Hertfordshire

Courses are aimed at first line workers providing direct care to people with Learning Disabilities within a variety of environments. The course descriptions contained within this booklet are there to assist you in assessing your suitability for a particular course.

Priority for places on any of the courses will be given to those delegates either working or living in each of the designated areas. Initially, additional priority will be given to Private & Voluntary sector workers followed by those from statutory organisations, although it is hoped that a balanced mix of workers from across all sectors can be achieved in order to further enhance the richness of the training experience.

Information regarding over-subscription of each course will be kept and the possibility of more courses being put on at a later date will be considered.

As this is a pilot programme your input will provide us with invaluable information regarding the level, content and type of courses that are required for future events. Please take the time to complete your evaluation forms comprehensively at the end of the training session.
